

Luxurious Eighty Seven Park Comes to Miami Beach

Miami Beach is soon to be home to an all new development by Renzo Piano Building Workshop. Not only that but it will be their first project in the Western Hemisphere. The beautiful luxury development, Eighty Seven Park, is set to be located ocean-side in North Miami Beach adjacent to a 35-acre park.

In collaboration with Rena Dumas Architecture Intérieure in Paris and West 8 in Rotterdam to handle the landscaping, Eighty Seven Park offers residents large one to five bedroom condominiums with between 1,400 and 7,000 square feet. On top of that the entire project will follow a palette inspired by nature. Imagine waking up every morning to that fresh ocean breeze as you step out onto your expansive wrap around balcony. There's nowhere quite like Miami Beach.

As you'd expect, Eighty Seven Park comes with an array of amenities. Residents can expect everything from a private park, to valet parking, swimming pools, gyms, and a Fugo bar. There will even be a private wine cellar to keep your best vintage in pristine condition. If you're looking for a gorgeous new residence on the island, Eighty Seven Park is sure to impress.
